FRENCH CAPTURE CHAULNES AND ROYE

HUNS DRIVEN OUT OF THE TWO VERY IMPORTANT POSITIONS AFTER LONG STRUGGLE.

(By the Associated Press)

German forces in Southern Picardy are retreating over a wide front. After the capture of Roye by the French yesterday the German front has crumbled, today's reports showing the French on a line less than three miles west of the Somme river canal. Chaulnes, the center of the German line between Roye and the Somme has been taken by the French. Thirty villages have been taken since the drive started Tuesday morning. The British have swung forward east of Arras and have penetrated about a mile east of yesterday's positions which were all east of the old Hindenburg line.

British East of Hindenburg Line.

London, August 28.—British forces east of Arras have reached the outskirts of Haucourt, Remy and Boiry and Notre Dame north of the Arras-Cambrai road, says today's official British statement. The British Flanders line has been advanced on a four mile front astride the Neuf Berquin-Estaires road. South of the Somme the British have taken Faucaucourt, while north of the river they attacked and captured the greater part of Trones wood.

MEX. COMMANDER REGRETS CLASH

CARRANZA ORDERS CALLES TO PERSONALLY EXPRESS REGRET.

(By the Associated Press)
Nogales, Ariz., August 28.—Profound regret for yesterday's clash between Mexican and American soldiers, in which three Americans were killed and twenty-eight wounded and in which Mexican casualties were estimated at between 150 and 200, were expressed by General Calles, Military Governor of Sonora in a message to Brigadier General Derosy Cabell. General Calles states he was ordered by President Carranza to express regret personally. A conference between the two generals will be held today at Nogales, Arizona.

A revised list of casualties shows Captain Joseph Hungerford, commanding a troop of negro cavalry, and two enlisted men killed. Among the Mexican killed was Mayor Felix Penaloza of Nogales, Sonora.

GERMAN EMPRESS TAKES TURN FOR THE WORSE

(By the Associated Press)
London, Aug. 28.—The German empress, who has been ill several days has taken a turn for the worse, according to advices received in Amsterdam from Dusseldorf and forwarded to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

BRITISH BUSY ON ITALIAN FRONT

(By the Associated Press)
London, Aug. 28.—An official communication on the British Italian front operations says Monday night the British penetrated deep into Austrian positions on the Asiago front inflicting heavy casualties and taking 265 prisoners.

BOLSHEVIKI IN RETREAT

FALL BACK SIX MILES ON SIBERIAN FRONT WHEN ALLIES ADVANCE.

(By the Associated Press)
London, August 28.—On the Ussuri front north of Vladivostok, the Bolsheviks have retired six miles before the general allied advance, according to reports received in Shanghai and transmitted by Reuter's Limited.

SENATE PASSES MAN POWER BILL

Washington, August 28.—The man power bill, bringing within the army draft all men from 18 to 45 years old, was passed late today by the senate, with a modified work-or-fight clause.

All efforts to change the age limits or to direct separate classification of youths under 21 failed, and the measure now goes to conference between the house and senate with no difference for serious controversy except the work-or-fight provision.

The senate was recorded unanimously for the bill. Senator Gore of Oklahoma, who cast the only negative vote on the roll call, withdrew it and was excused from voting.

FORD BOTH WINS AND LOSES

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR SENATOR BEATEN ON REPUBLICAN TICKET.

(By the Associated Press)
Detroit, Mich., August 28.—Henry Ford, the Detroit automobile manufacturer and President Wilson's choice for the Michigan senatorial nomination, was today on the face of returns from over half of the state, both winner and loser in yesterday's primaries. Truman H. Newberry, commander in the third U. S. Naval district, and former secretary of the navy, won the Republican nomination by a vote which may equal the total of both Ford and former governor Osborn.

In the Democratic balloting, however, Ford, who was a candidate on both tickets, won an easy two-to-one victory over William C. Helme, his only opponent.

FRENCH CONTINUE SWEEP BEYOND CHAULNES, CAPTURING THIRTY VILLAGES.

(By the Associated Press)
Paris, August 28.—Chaulnes has been occupied by French troops, according to today's official statement.

Progress toward the Somme was continued this morning by the French, the statement says. Since yesterday the French have taken thirty villages. Among the larger villages taken are Omicourt, about a mile east of Chaulnes; Balatre, three miles northeast of Roye and Roilise, a mile and three quarters south-east of Roye.

Closing in on Noyon. Paris, August 28.—General Mangin's troops began crossing the Ailette river today it was announced here this afternoon. French troops have captured Mount Renaud, two miles southwest of Noyon, according to LeTemps, which says the French are approaching Noyon.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly... Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then... it would last... two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful."

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three... I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children... Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

A NEW DAY IN EDUCATION.

There is to be a saner day in the educational life of Oklahoma, a day that is already dawning. In the first place, there is to be a decided patriotic trend to the education of the youth, a phase of education that we have taken for granted and to which we have not given the attention the subject has deserved. While we sat by and let the American youth grow to manhood with the idea that the government was his from right and not because his forefathers had fought and died for it, the German rulers, supported by the various disloyal organizations in this country, taught that the German nation is the greatest nation on the earth, even making the American people believe the universities of the Fatherland were superior to our own great institutions of learning.

These things can exist no longer. The American boy and the American girl will now be taught rightly that the American nation and American democracy are now his only because they have been bought at a great sacrifice and must be preserved at a great sacrifice.

The military program of the schools is a great improvement also. Discipline is one of the things every boy should learn. Military discipline, the strictest yet known, is what the American youth needs to give him a proper outlook upon life and upon the relative value of things.

These advantages are to be shared alike by the youth of all the states. In Oklahoma there is another gain, the recognition that continued service of school officials is necessary to keep up the high standard of the schools and to raise that standard from time to time. The election of R. H. Wilson to succeed himself as State Superintendent of Public Instruction is a step in that direction. The presidents of the various state schools are not being changed as rapidly as they were a few years ago. We believe the people of Oklahoma have come to realize that to tear up is not to build up.

These are some of the things that the youth of this and other states are to profit from.

An exchange remarks that 46 is the prevailing age of the men of its town, no one ever suspecting before just how many there were of that age.

EAST CENTRAL NORMAL HONORED

President Gordon is highly elated over the fact that an East Central boy has been picked out for special efficiency in the Students' Army Training Corps at Ft. Sheridan, Ill. Last week 165 of the students of the S. A. T. C. representing 143 colleges were selected for special efficiency in their training at Ft. Sheridan and transferred to Camp Perry, Ohio. These men will take up special work in the small arms firing school, and it is officially stated that if their work shows the proper progress they will probably receive commissions.

In the list of students and their institutions published in the Ft. Sheridan Reville appears the name of Leslie J. Steward, East Central State Normal School, (Oklahoma.) It is interesting to note that of the 3500 students taking special training at Ft. Sheridan, 165 were selected representing 143 colleges. Of the 143 colleges three Oklahoma institutions are represented; viz: University of Oklahoma, the A. & M. College and East Central State Normal. It is interesting further to note that of the 143 institutions mentioned 11 were Normal schools, one of which was East Central.

Leslie Steward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Steward, of 728 W. 10th street, and has been a student in East Central State Normal for the past three or four years. He is an unassuming young man, but those who know him have been impressed with his earnestness of purpose, and the fact that he does well whatever he undertakes to do. This is further emphasized by the fact that his work at Ft. Sheridan has attracted the eyes of the military officers.

He left for Camp Perry last Thursday and will be there until the close of the training season, September 16th, at which time he will return to East Central State Normal.

WAR PROFITS TAX AND EXCESS PROFITS TAX—

THE DIFFERENCE
"By a war-profits tax we mean a tax upon profits in excess of those realized before the war."

"By an excess-profits tax we mean a tax upon profits in excess of a given return upon capital."

"The theory of a war-profits tax is to tax profits due to the war."

"The theory of an excess-profits tax is to tax profits over and above a given return on capital. The excess-profits tax falls less heavily on big business than on small business, because big business is generally overcapitalized and small businesses are often under-capitalized."

"The war-profits tax would tax all war profits at one high rate; the excess-profits tax does and for safety must tax all excess profits at lower and graduated rates."

The above extract from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo's testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee gives his differentiation between war-profits and excess-profits taxes and explains his position in urging upon congress an excess-profits tax with an alternative war-profits tax in the forthcoming revenue legislation.

To the average citizen Secretary McAdoo's position seems well taken. Most small and local corporations are capitalized at an actual valuation. Many of the very large corporations are great overcapitalized; the stock of some of them has been repeatedly watered. With only an excess-profits tax a corporation earning 10 per cent on grossly watered capital will pay the same tax as another corporation not overcapitalized earning 10 per cent on the real, actual valuation of the money and property invested in its business. The profits of the first corporation might be 50 per cent on its actual valuation, and it is to cover such cases that a war-profits tax is urged.

As many of these large corporations are engaged in government work and drawing huge sums from the United States, it seems particularly just that they should pay taxes on the same actual basis as corporations not over-capitalized. A tax that taxes equally a 10 per cent profit on watered capital and a 10 per cent profit on unwatered capital is not equal and uniform and scarcely just.

EDUCATORS LEARN OF ARMY TRAINING

President J. M. Gordon of the Normal left today for Ft. Sheridan, Ill., to attend a conference arranged by Lieut. Robert I. Rees, representing the War College Committee, held upon the direct invitation of President Wilson. From 300 to 600 college presidents and special faculty representatives will attend the meeting.

"The purpose of the conference," the authorities say, "is that the college heads may become thoroughly acquainted with the serious work that the Students' Army Training Corps camps are actually doing in preparing the youths of the country for future officer material for the proper training of the huge army that this country will need to forever crush the menace of the Hun and safeguard our liberty and our women and children."

"The great problem facing the country, and particularly the war department, will be the lack of trained officer material. The regular army sergeants have been promoted long ago and have been sent overseas on active service. The militia officer material has been sorted out and sent abroad. The best time to begin specialized officer training has been found to be the age of 18, and by the time the boys are 21 those who show the proper making of an officer will be assigned as lieutenants commanding platoons and will be able to teach others."

"The proper place for the boy to receive this special preliminary training at 18 is at the schools or colleges where the military training courses have been inaugurated into the curriculum under the plan laid out by the war department, and requiring 6 to 10 hours work each week."

President Gordon has given the matter very close study since the Students' Army Training Corps was first authorized. He is anxious that East Central shall do her work not only in preparing teachers but in training men and women to do effectively the work that the present emergency has brought upon us.

JAPAN INCREASING ARMY AND NAVY

Tokio, Aug. 28.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Japan has made preliminary plans to increase her army by fifty percent and to build three times the number of dreadnoughts and battle-cruisers previously planned.

No official announcement has been made but, it is understood that the project adopted at a recent conference of field-marshal and fleet-admirals includes the creation of an army of 21 corps, or 42 divisions and the enlargement of the navy so that it will eventually include three main fleets, each to consist of eight dreadnoughts and eight battle-cruisers. Each of the new army divisions will be composed of three regiments, instead of four as at present.

Years will be required to develop the army and navy to the desired strength, but a beginning will be made as soon as conditions especially financial conditions, will permit.

Under the new military program, Japan would have 126 regiments, as against the present 84, there being now in existence 21 divisions, each of four regiments. An increase of 42 regiments is provided for.

Of this increase, four new divisions are covered by the new program laid down in 1906 when it was decided to increase the number of divisions to 25, or to a total strength of 100 regiments. This program has not yet been carried into effect. Writers on military matters estimate that the new plan contemplates an eventual enlargement of the Japanese army by fifty percent above its present strength with a corresponding enlargement of the reserves due to the great numbers passed through the service each year. Many think the expansion will be easy from the standpoint of man-power.

The naval program adopted at the last session of the Diet was to fill out a fleet of eight dreadnoughts and six battle-cruisers. The new naval proposal therefore means that Japan plans to build two squadrons each to be composed of eight dreadnoughts and eight battle-cruisers, and two additional squadrons to fill out the present battle-cruiser fleet. In other words the construction project calls for sixteen additional dreadnoughts and eighteen more battle-cruisers.

The estimated expenditure involved is large. That for the army is placed at about $37,150,000, and that of the navy at about $540,000,000. It is probable that the actual costs would be much higher as the estimates mentioned above are based upon figures worked out before the war when prices were lower.

STEEDMAN.

Somewhat cooler and damper. We had a nice little rain last Friday night and Saturday morning, but not enough to run.

Rev. Caldwell of Ada, is holding a meeting all last week and this, assisted by the Rev. Clark of Steedman and large crowds are attending.

The new gin is nearing the point of gaining. Would have been running now only for a mistake in setting the machinery, and all of it had to be moved and set over, and that takes time and trouble. They are working Sunday and overtime so as to meet the farmers when they go to picking cotton in earnest.

The telephone has changed operators. Several more of our boys are called for the 29th and 30th September 3 to 7.

Mrs. Ford, mother of Walter Ford, spent the week in Steedman.

School is progressing nicely with good attendance. Pioneer.

FINANCIAL HISTORY OF MEXICAN WAR

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, Aug. 28.—It has been said that the real financial foundation of the United States was laid during the period intervening between the War of 1812 and the War with Mexico, which began in May, 1846.

It was during that period that the people began to feel their nationhood in a marked degree, settlements were extended to the Pacific coast and a continual stream of desirable immigrants flocked to the United States.

In the two or three years immediately preceding the Mexican war, more than 350,000 immigrants landed on American shores and every one was welcome, as the industrial and agricultural expansion of the country was so great that there were splendid opportunities. By 1846 there were 5,000 miles of railroad lines in operation and they were being rapidly extended.

Another important event which had direct bearing on the financial prosperity of the United States was the removal of import duties by England in 1842. This, with the growth of the manufacturing industry in England, caused tremendous importation from this country particularly of cotton and food products and it had a stimulating effect upon the entire nation.

The financial system of the country rested upon a sound basis. "Prejudice against internal taxation, which had manifested itself during the early days and which was felt especially during the war of 1812, had disappeared entirely and except for certain political measures, and those of a minor nature, the people were firmly united and cheerfully met the excise duties which the exigencies of the times placed upon them. The banking system had been reorganized, sub-treasuries had been established and the country was far better prepared to enter into war with Mexico than it had been to undertake the second war with England in 1812.

The Mexican war was of short duration, lasting only about two years, and it caused no serious financial depression. The revenue from import duties and internal taxation was such that there was no need to adopt a plan of emergency taxation with the result that no extra burden was placed upon the people.

The expenditures of the war department from April 1, 1846, to April 1, 1849, were $80,845,116 as compared with the expenditures of $21,991,123 during the previous three years. During the period of the war the Navy Department spent $18,758,000 which was a little more than $4,000,000 in excess of what that department had expended for the two and a half years before the war.

To meet the excess of $63,605,621 congress decided upon the method adopted during the war of 1812 and authorized several issues of treasury notes and government stock. The results were far different, however, for while the issues during the war of 1812 were disposed of with great difficulty and one issue at least, had to be sold below par, the issues of 1846 were in such demand that they were over-subscribed, and under one of the loan acts, when subscriptions were invited for $18,000,000 bids were received for $57,723,000 and these were made at rates varying from one-eighth of one per cent to two per cent more than par.

This was the first loan negotiated on a basis of this kind since the foundation of the government and it was due entirely to the splendid prosperity of the times and the solidity of public credit.

Following the war period the country continued to expand commercially. The discovery of gold in California had a marvelous effect upon national prosperity, and immigration continued upon a larger scale than ever before, more immigrants coming between 1845 and 1855 than in the preceding twenty-five years. The addition of the large territory ceded by Mexico increased importations, and the entire western country possessed resources which were only in an embryonic state of development, but which offered such wonderful possibilities that it was generally realized that the nation was at the threshold of a new commercial era.

While the national debt had been increased from $15,550,000 to $68,304,000 by war loans, this was reduced so rapidly that in 1857 the principal was but $28,700,000. In this flourishing condition the country approached the civil war.

A. & M. OPENS DOORS TO SOLDIERS

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 28.—(Special)—"Educate the boys" is a slogan which should be generally adopted in the judgment of the Oklahoma State Council of Defense and all war workers, when it can be done with propriety, are asked to urge all young men to continue their education in the higher state institutions of learning. This may now be done without prejudice to the boy's patriotic sentiment or aspirations as he may become a member of the United States army by enlisting in the students' army training corps instead of awaiting his turn in the draft. It gives them special military training and fits them for officers' training camps. This applies to boys between the ages of 18 and 21 years.

The A. & M. College at Stillwater, the University of Oklahoma and several other state schools have opened their doors to such a course and have made preparations to receive any number of boys who would serve their country in this way and prepare themselves for positions as army officers.

The County Commissioners of Pontotoc County, Oklahoma, will receive bids for the construction of a thirty foot flat floor re-inforced concrete bridge with wing wall piers and gas pipe hand rails, said bridge to be constructed over Spring Brook Creek in mile 4 of Road Section 9, between sections 20 and 35, Township 4 North Range 5 East. Contract price to cover all labor and material for a first class, neat, guaranteed job. Blue Prints and Specifications are on file and may be examined in the office of County Clerk, M. Garner, Ada, Okla. Bids to be opened and contract let Tuesday, September 3, 1918 in the above named office.

I. R. GILMORE, Chairman Board.

NEGRO WAITERS ARE PASSING AWAY HERE

A. C. Young, manager of the New Harris hotel, has decided as a war measure, to employ waitresses instead of negro men in his dining room. The negroes will be required to get work of a heavier nature or will probably go to war. Mr. Young is in line with the other patriotic men of Ada and Pontotoc County in that he is doing everything possible to help win the war.

Now that the government is in need of strong men in the munition plants, in building giant factories, in construction of ships, and on the farms, Mr. Young believes it is his duty to release every able bodied man possible. He is taking the lead in a movement that will soon sweep Oklahoma and eventually the entire country.

DIZZINESS CAUSES FALL—HEAD INJURED

"A year ago my stomach bloated so badly with gas that I fell unconscious and my head badly on corner of door. I had suffered from stomach trouble for several years and no medicine helped me to speak of. A druggist patched up my head and advised me to use May's Wonderful Remedy for my stomach trouble. The results have been really wonderful. I have never had any sign of my former symptoms since." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Gwin & Mays Drug Co., and Druggists everywhere.

BRITISH RETAKE 116 SQUARE MILES IN 4 DAYS

London, Aug. 28.—Interesting comparisons between the results achieved on the British and French fronts in the Somme area with those of the first battle of the Somme are made by a military expert here. He points out that in four months from July 1 to October 31, 1916, the British won forty-four square miles of land. In four days, between August 21 and August 25, the British won 116 square miles with casualties amounting to only 33,000.

In other words, he says, between two and three times as much ground has been taken at an infinitely smaller cost. In other words, he says, between two and three times as much ground has been taken at an infinitely smaller cost. In the four days under discussion, the British won much more territory than both the British and French armies recovered in the whole first battle of the Somme.

MEN STENOGRAPHERS FOR RED CROSS SERVICE

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 28.—(Special)—An urgent call has been sent out by the American Red Cross for male stenographers for home service. The Oklahoma State Council of Defense urges war workers to bring this to the attention of rapid and accurate stenographers. These workers are required to live in army camps in this country and to wear the Red Cross uniform. Living quarters and meals are provided in addition to salary. This opportunity is extended to men under or over draft age or who are physically disqualified for active service. Applicants should address Bureau of Personnel, Red Cross, 17th and D. streets, Washington, D. C.

NOTICE TO ALL READERS OF THE EVENING NEWS

Every one who has a news item of importance is invited to telephone it to The News from day to day. Owing to the shortage of labor and the high price of running a newspaper, it is impossible now to maintain a reporting force large enough to see every one every day. You can go to the telephone and give us a news item in a few minutes and in this way let your friends know where you are. They will appreciate the courtesy.

Oftentimes you will have friends visiting you. The people of Ada want to know about this, and we sincerely ask you to let the News tell them about this friend. It is a courtesy you owe your guest to have his or her name appear in the news items of your local paper.

Some one will be in the office all the time to look after these items.

"Soul of Wit"

Someone has said that "brevity is the soul of wit." It is, and in these strenuous times it would seem a very good idea to apply the same maxim to other channels of conversation. The man or woman who can handle an important subject briefly is sure of a royal welcome wherever he or she seeks an audience.

Ventilate Coal Piles.

Unless coal piles are well ventilated spontaneous combustion will follow. To prevent spontaneous combustion, the bureau of mines gives these suggestions: (1) Build a coal bin on dry ground. (2) Store only one size of coal in each pile. (3) Remove fine coal for immediate use if possible. (4) Don't wet and dry the coal alternately while piling. (5) Store the coal in small piles near the place where it is to be stored. (6) Use small bins in storage yards.

REPORTS ON COTTON CROP VARY GREATLY

Every day the white fleecy staple comes into Ada, and the farmers carry back with them certificates of fat bank deposits. This does not mean of course, that the cotton crop is as large as it has been in years past. The early cotton is indicative of the opposite. The cotton is bringing a good price, however, and the farmer who is fortunate enough to have several bales will have a nice balance in the bank when the crop is gathered.

Some reports from the county indicate the crop will be better than was at first expected. Reports from other parts of the county indicate the crop will be even smaller than was expected. It is certain that it will be considerably less than last year, the estimates for the shortage varying anywhere from 30 to 60 per cent.

J. B. Hill, county farm demonstrator, says the rains will help the cotton in places. In other places the cotton had already reached maturity, or at least the stalk had stopped growing. In such places the rains will help the bolls to fill out well and will cause a better grade of cotton to be harvested.

BLOODY BATTLE ON MEXICAN BOUNDARY

Nogales, Ariz., August 28.—One American officer fell fighting in the streets of Nogales late today, one civilian was killed, another officer was seriously wounded and between ten and twenty American soldiers were killed during the skirmish which took place along International avenue between American troops and Mexicans in Nogales, Sonora.

Approximately fifteen Americans wounded, including Lieutenant Colonel Frederick H. Herman, who was shot through the right leg while commanding the American troops, but continued in command on crutches.

The dead include Captain J. B. Hungerford, who was killed in action. The civilian was Gaston Reddock, who was killed during the first hour of the fighting. Lieutenant Luke W. Loftis was seriously wounded.

One Hundred Mexicans Killed While the casualties on the Mexican side of the border were not known tonight, it was estimated that 100 had been killed by fire from the American side while at least twice this number, including a number of civilians, were wounded. It was reported tonight that the Mayor of Nogales, Sonora, was killed, but this was not confirmed.

The fighting followed the alleged efforts of a Mexican customs official to smuggle fellow-countrymen across the border into the United States. An American sentry attempted to stop him. Two Mexicans fired at the sentry across the street, striking him in the right arm. The fire was returned by American patrols and after Mexicans had rushed from nearby buildings and started shooting across the line from behind buildings and walls, the firing became general.

Fair day is the promise for tomorrow.

ANOTHER SENATE LEADER DIES

OLLIE M. JAMES, NOTED KENTUCKY STATESMAN, ANSWERS LAST ROLL CALL.

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, Aug. 28.—United States Senator Ollie M. James, of Kentucky, died at 6:30 this morning in a hospital at Baltimore, where he has been ill for some time.

Ollie M. James, one of the leaders of the Democratic party and long a dominant figure in Kentucky politics, served five consecutive terms as a member of Congress from the First Kentucky district, was elected United States Senator by the General Assembly in 1912, and was re-nominated for that office by a large vote at the statewide primary on August 3, last.

Born in Crittenden county, Kentucky, July 27, 1871, and educated in public and academic schools of that section, James took an early interest in politics and at the close of a legislative session, during which he served as page, he began the study of law in the office of his father, Judge L. H. James, and was admitted to the bar a full year before he had reached his majority.

During the past four years he leaped into political prominence in the western section of the state, and he was not yet twenty-five when he was selected as a delegate to the Democratic National convention at Chicago in 1896 which nominated William Jennings Bryan for the presidency.

Out of the memorable campaign that followed the Chicago convention grew a close friendship between James and Mr. Bryan that continued through life, despite the fact that their views were not always in accord.

It was his ringing speeches in defense of the Chicago platform that first attracted nationwide attention to the young Kentuckian and placed him at a single bound into the inner council of the Democratic party of his home state.

"Big Ollie," as James was familiarly known to thousands, attended five Democratic national conventions as a delegate from Kentucky subsequent to the Chicago convention and served as permanent chairman of the conventions of 1912 and 1916 which nominated President Wilson.

He was largely instrumental in having the Kentucky delegation to the Baltimore convention vote for Champ Clark and was himself a staunch supporter of the Missouriian but after the nomination of President Wilson he became an ardent supporter of the latter and frequently served as his spokesman in the legislative chamber.

James' boyhood ambition to serve in congress was realized in 1902, when at the age of 31 he began the first of his five consecutive terms from the First Kentucky district. Shortly after his election to the United States Senate by the General Assembly, the constitutional amendment providing for election of senators by popular vote, a measure which James had labored to get through Congress, became a law.

His re-nomination at the statewide primary on August 3, after his opponent had virtually eliminated himself by asking his friends to re-nominate James, came while he was ill at Johns-Hopkins at Baltimore, where he had been confined almost continuously since February 1.

In the dramatic events that led up to and followed the assassination of Governor William Goebel "Big Ollie" played a conspicuous part and won the praise of the people of his own state. He was a leading figure in the convention which nominated Goebel after a deadlock of more than a week and supported the latter in the subsequent campaign. When Goebel decided to institute a contest after a certificate of election had been given W. S. Taylor, he asked James to serve as his attorney before the General Assembly.

The contest was decided in Goebel's favor, and then he was killed. In the stormy period that followed, James occupied a conspicuous place.

Senator James was married Dec. 2, 1903, to Miss Ruth Thomas, daughter of R. Y. Thomas of Marion, Ky., who survives him. There were no children.

It was on his return from Patterson, N. J., where he attended the funeral of Senator William Hughes, that Senator James became ill early in February. He was bed-ridden with tonsillitis for two weeks, but spent his time preparing an address upholding the administration's conduct of the war, which he delivered Feb. 14, against advice of physicians.

Three days later he was forced to his bed by acute inflammation of the kidneys, but he was up and attending to his business again three weeks later. Finally his condition became such that he was sent to Johns-Hopkins where he underwent several minor operations. Later blood transfusion was attempted in the battle to save his life.
